Graphic Novels

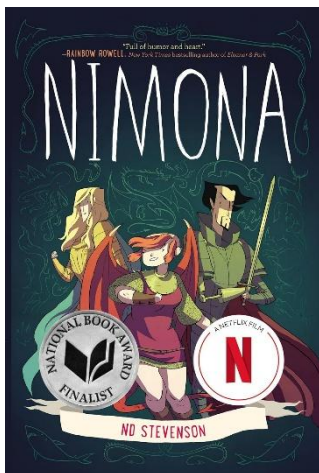

Year 7-8

The Lord of the Flies - The Graphic Novel, William Golding

Lord of the Flies: The Graphic Novel is a clear and engaging version of the classic story, brought to life with powerful illustrations. The images make it easier to follow the plot and understand how the characters change as they struggle to survive on the island. It's a great way to explore important ideas about human behaviour, power, and friendship in a more accessible and visual format.

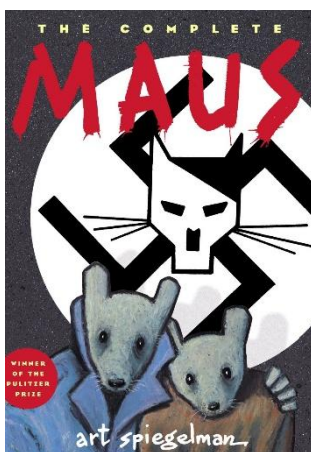

Year 9-10

Nimona, ND Stevenson

Nimona by ND Stevenson is a bold, funny, and action-packed graphic novel that's full of heart. Following the unpredictable shapeshifter Nimona and her unlikely partnership with a supposed villain, the story blends humour with deeper themes of identity, friendship, and belonging. With its vibrant artwork and fast-paced storytelling, it's an engaging and memorable read that challenges expectations and celebrates being different.

Year 11-13

Maus, Art Spiegelman

Maus by Art Spiegelman is a powerful and deeply moving graphic novel that tells the story of the Holocaust through a personal and unique lens. Using striking black-and-white illustrations, it portrays real experiences of survival, loss, and resilience. Thought-provoking and impactful, it helps readers understand both history and the lasting effects of trauma in a way that is both accessible and unforgettable.
